1. In addition to OTR briefings and courses given for the armed forces--by the SIC Staff, the OTR Briefing Officer, the Operations School course for OSI/USAF, for example)--there are a number given by non-OTR components. Some of these are coordinated by the OTR Briefing Officer (if speakers are being sent to SIS, for example), and some are not. This paper is an attempt to identify some of the points in the Agency where speaker requests have been or are being filled without prior coordination with OTR.

2. DDP

- a. C/WPG now coordinates his lectures with OTR.
- b. TSS: I am not certain of the extent of their coordination with OTR.

3. DDS

In the past, the General Counsel's Office has given briefings to military officers (sometimes with the IG giving a general CIA briefing).

4. DDI

a. Mr. Amory lectures frequently at service institutions. Sometimes Mr. Kent substitute for him. About two thirds of the lectures given are substantive; the others are more along the lines of organization or of description of the US intelligence system. The DDI presentations are not coordinated with OTR, but many are coordinated with Col. Grogan.

b. The military institutions covered annually by Mr. Amory are as follows:

- (1) National War College (substantive)
- (2) Air Command and Staff School (substantive)
- (3) Army War College (substantive)
- (4) Navy War College ("The National Intelligence System")
- (5) Armed Forces Staff College (CIA briefing)
- (6) West Point cadets (?)

At the Army War College, in addition to Mr. Amory's briefing on the world situation, eight individuals from OCI
